About This Resource

This is a companion to Pastoral Relations: Community of Faith. It provides additional tools for a community of faith in the pastoral relations process, including sample bulletin inserts about pastoral relations, worksheets for the community of faith profile, sample interview questions, and worksheets for the search team.

For more information about pastoral relations, including whom to contact, please visit www.united-church.ca/leadership/supporting-ministry/pastoral-relations.

Communicating with the Community of Faith

The following could be used in a worship bulletin or website update to keep a community of faith up to date on the work of those leading the pastoral relations process, while respecting the confidentiality of the search process.

After a change in pastoral relations is announced:

The chair of the governing body/council/session/board could write something like: “Since our minister _____ submitted their letter to request a change in pastoral relations, we have experienced a profound sense of loss. Their time among us has been very significant to our faith community. These next three months together will be an important time for each of us to say goodbye. We will inform you soon about our plans to celebrate _____’s ministry before their departure. We will soon share with you the next steps to search for a new minister.”

When the community of faith enters the pastoral relations process:

The chair of the governing body/council/session/board could write: “We want to assure you that we have been in touch with staff from _____ regional council about the process of searching for a new minister. Briefly, the process ahead may involve the governing body/council/session/board appointing a supply minister for the next _____ months. During this time, the governing body/council/session/board will appoint a team to develop a community of faith profile. They will invite all of you to be part of a time of consultation as they develop the profile that tells the story of our church. This profile, once approved by you, will be posted on the United Church’s online pastoral relations tool, ChurchHub. A search team will be named and they will review profiles of ministry personnel, conduct interviews, check references, and eventually make a recommendation to a meeting of our whole faith community. Our goal is to select a minister whose gifts and skills are a good match with who we are as a church. Please pray for God’s spirit of discernment to be at work both in our community and in our future minister.”

When a team is developing the community of faith profile:

“Your team is busy working on the first step of the pastoral relations process, which is developing the community of faith profile. You will all be involved in the consultation for this process. The first opportunity is _____.”

When the community of faith is asked to approve the community of faith profile:

“Our team has completed the community of faith profile. We are grateful for everyone’s input as we work to tell the story of our church. The governing body/council/session/board has approved the profile and calls a meeting of our faith community on (date) to consider approving the community of faith profile. If approved, it will be posted on the United Church’s online pastoral relations tool, ChurchHub, for viewing by ministry personnel who are searching for a new pastoral relationship.”

When the search team is formed:

“(List of members) have been named to our search team. Thank you for the confidence and trust you have placed in each of us who were named to the search team. Although we haven’t yet had our first training session, we have had a first gathering. We spent time getting to know each other and agreeing on how we will work together. We are feeling excited/ confident/anxious/daunted about our task. We ask you to keep us and this process in your prayers.”

When the search team begins working with a regional council support person:

“The work of the search team is moving ahead. Our first training from _____ regional council is scheduled for (date) and we will provide another update at that time. Here’s a reminder of those named to the search team: (list of members).”

When the search team is initially trained:

“Your search team members (list them here) have completed their second training. We have spent time considering how our biases are shaped by our power in society and in our church as well as our calling to reflect God’s radically inclusive love and justice. We have reviewed how human rights must be upheld throughout the pastoral relations process. We have reviewed how we will use the United Church’s online pastoral relations tool, ChurchHub, to search for potential matches for a new pastoral relationship. Pray for us as we discern among the ministry personnel profiles and our own community of faith profile.”

As the search team reviews profiles and prepares for interviews:

“We have spent time reviewing the skills and gifts of (number) ministry personnel along with our ministry priorities. We have decided to go ahead with our first round of interviews. (or: At this time we are not ready to proceed with interviews, but we will keep you apprised.) Please pray that we will be open to the gifts, skills, and passions of each one who responds to our profile.”

You don’t need to tell them how many interviews you are doing—just that you are moving ahead. This helps to reassure the community that you are progressing.

When the search team is doing first interviews:

“We have established our interview process. We will be using this process with a number of applicants over the next few weeks. Stay tuned, as there will be more to come. In the meantime, please pray for the interviewees that they will come prepared and confident—and for us, that we are able to provide a safe and welcoming environment in which each interviewee feels able to shine.”

When checking references and discerning:

This stage of the process is particularly confidential. Keep the community apprised of progress but with minimal details: “We are continuing to proceed with our interview process and the required follow-up. We are grateful for the continued commitment of each member of our search team who is giving of their time and talents. Please take a moment to say thank you to each one of them at some point this week. Remember that they need to maintain confidentiality in the process, so please be patient.”

When the search team is doing second interviews:

It is not recommended to communicate that a second interview has occurred. This can raise expectations that may not be fulfilled. Try to move through the next steps quickly to minimize what may feel like an information vacuum for those waiting in the pews. But resist the pressure to pass on information that could be misconstrued or set up people for disappointment. Maybe repeat a simple version of the previous announcement.

When the governing body calls a meeting of the community of faith to consider a recommendation:

“The search team is ready to make a recommendation to our community of faith. The governing body/council/session/board calls a meeting of our faith community on (date) to consider the recommendation of the search team.” The public notice of the meeting to receive the report of the search team and its recommendation must be read during worship and may be inserted into the order of worship (bulletin) on two successive Sundays. The meeting may then be held on the following Monday or any day after that.

After the community of faith has voted on the recommendation for a new pastoral relationship:

“We had a formal meeting of our community of faith on (date). Approximately (number) people were in attendance to receive and act upon the recommendations of the search team. After the presentation by (name of chair/presenter), members agreed by vote to the following: to extend a call or appointment to (name) effective (date) as per the terms that were outlined in the report; to request that _____ regional council approve this call or appointment and that the search team be disbanded, with our sincere thanks, following the covenanting service. If you have questions or wish to see the report, please request this (how). There will be more information forthcoming about how we are going to welcome (name) into our community, so please think about this over the next few weeks. Please pray for (name of the new minister) and for all of us as a community of faith that we open our hearts and minds to each other’s ministry as we begin this new pastoral relationship.”

Please include any comments you think are pertinent to your consideration—renovations, special fundraising, money that comes in as revenue but you really don't have use of because it goes out to organizations, GICs, term deposits, memorial fund, support of M&S, no minister, or minister on sabbatical. These comments help you understand why expenses might grow one year and revenues another.

A recent financial statement should be appended to this document.

10. Please list any investments, special funds, and other monies your community of faith holds. What are the rules/restrictions around the use of those funds?

Having examined your current financial situation, you will want to examine the minister's salary schedule (www.united-church.ca/leadership/church-administration/ministers-salary-schedule-and-cost-living-groups) and work with your treasurer to determine the cost of ministry personnel at different increment categories. This will include salary, allowances, and employer contributions to government plans, pension, and benefits. Your treasurer will perhaps understand these tools more clearly than members of the search team:

- The United Church of Canada provides Budgeting Tools for Treasurers on the General Council website for both ministry personnel and lay employees. Go to: www.united-church.ca/leadership/church-administration/budgeting-tools-treasurers.
- Please note that in addition to the employer costs noted in the tables in these United Church tools, there are employee and employer premiums for Employment Insurance and Canada Pension Plan. (Tables for these costs are available on the Canada Revenue Agency website: www.cra-arc.gc.ca)

Position Description Template

Position Title: _____

Position Profile: Full-time Part-time

If part-time, hours per week _____

Solo Team ministry

If team, describe full ministry complement

Position Summary: (2–4 sentences that summarize the position)

Autonomy in Decision-Making: What decisions will the ministry personnel make independently (without consulting others), and what types of decisions will require consultation, and with whom. This list does not need to be exhaustive, but it should indicate what types and amounts of expenditures can be authorized by the ministry personnel, as well as relationships among other paid staff (e.g., Who has a decision-making role in music?).

Principal Areas of Responsibility and Associated Duties

General Instructions:

1. Use your living faith story to guide how you complete this section, and/or use the categories below, which can be ordered by priorities and the amount of time, energy, and skill required to fulfill them.
2. For each “principal area,” define the duties that are associated with the area. As much as possible, indicate the frequency of the duties (e.g., daily, weekly, monthly, occasionally, or yearly if applicable). BE HONEST. Don’t say something is “as needed” when you really mean “daily.”
3. Start by being specific and include everything. Then go back and delete the things that don’t really belong. The position description, in most cases, will be three to five pages.
4. Involvement in the denomination (i.e., regional council or General Council) is not optional, but rather a key component of each ministry personnel’s vocation. A community of faith cannot choose to eliminate this expectation.

You may use the following categories, based on the “Ethical Standards and Standards of Practice for Ministry Personnel” (available on www.united-church.ca), which provides clarity on the definition and focus of each category.

Administration

If you have specific duties associated with administration, for which you do not have administrative support, list them here: for example, creating the bulletin, scheduling, and reception. If there is administrative support, list that, and specify whether it is paid or volunteer.

Community Outreach and Social Justice

Different ministries use different words to describe this category. Some refer to it as “activities that reach beyond our doors.” Others may describe it more specifically: environmental justice activities, poverty and justice activities, global justice, food sustainability, and so on. If you have specific activities related to this “principal area,” make sure you include them here: for example, if you expect the ministry personnel to be a member of a local organization’s board as part of your outreach, name this expectation here.

Continuing Education

It is not necessary to list specific ways that ministry personnel further their education. You could use this wording: “Pursues personal, vocational, and professional goals for continuing education in consultation with the M&P Committee.”

Denomination and Communities

Ministry personnel have responsibilities as members of The United Church of Canada to the denomination, the wider church, their communities, and the world. There should be two subsections in this category. The first section is mandatory and is United Church policy. You could use: “Is actively involved in the life of the regional council and/or General Council.”

The second section is optional, and it is a place for your community of faith to identify community partnerships that you expect your ministry personnel to engage in: for example, there may be health and social service agencies with which your local ministry collaborates, tenants in your building, or outreach ministry collaborations. This category should identify these partnerships and the type of participation that you expect (e.g., attending meetings or leading an inter-agency partnership).

Faith Formation and Christian Education

Different ministries use different words—discipleship, Christian education for children and youth, adult education, small group ministry, faith formation, spiritual practices—to describe this category. Be clear about the age groups involved and expectations about specific activities (e.g., March Break camps for school-aged children).

Leadership

List specific duties associated with leadership. For example, specify if the ministry personnel will provide “supervision” to any other staff person, “coordinate” the work of multiple staff members, speak publicly on behalf of the community of faith, or train/mentor a Lay Pastoral Care Team. You may also comment on the style of leadership that your community of faith needs. Remember that no one leader can be all things. Below are just a few examples: think carefully and honestly about the type of leader that best suits the personality and needs of your community of faith:

- Provides strong, charismatic leadership and direction to others.
- Leads “from behind”—motivates, encourages, and supports others to share their own gifts for ministry.
- Highly personable approach to leadership, e.g., builds relationship and consensus, delegates and shares leadership appropriately.”
- Leader not afraid to take risks, to try new things and learn through both successes and mistakes.

Pastoral Care

Use this category to describe your expectations for visiting and supporting people spiritually. Describe who this care is provided to—just members and adherents, or other members of the community who seek it? Are there specific skills that the person in this ministry position requires? For example, must they have credentials for counselling (not only “pastoral care”), a certain number of Clinical Pastoral Education units, or special skills in addictions, mental health, palliative/end-of-life care, or children’s counselling.

Self-care

Often ministry personnel know the best specific ways for them to engage in self-care. It isn’t necessary to list specific ways that they should take care of themselves. You can use: “Sets goals for ongoing self-care by maintaining a healthy balance of one’s own physical, emotional, and spiritual well-being to include rest, recreation, and professional development. Collaborates with the M&P Committee to meet goals.”

Worship

Describe your expectations for worship. In your community of faith, worship may take several forms; be clear on the expectations for each worship opportunity you offer. Or, if your goal is to develop a number of worship alternatives beyond your existing worship locations and times, clarify the expected worship sites for this position description (including frequency, location, duration, and “tone”). For example, spell out that the ministry personnel is expected to lead a traditional Sunday morning worship service in two congregations at two different sites, as well as develop, implement, and lead a contemporary mid-week service aimed primarily at young families.

Required Knowledge, Skills, and Abilities

This section identifies the absolute requirements of the position (not the “nice to haves”). Include expected level of education; certifications required; driver’s licence and access to car (if required); any areas of specialization; computer and technological expertise (if needed); and so on.

Other Preferred Assets

If you wish, you can indicate skills, credentials, or abilities that aren’t required but are “preferred.” These may be areas that you help the ministry personnel to develop over time, e.g., if this ministry position includes maintenance of a website, then website maintenance may be a “preferred” skill, or if it involves working in a shelter or other type of outreach ministry, perhaps a preferred skill is “experience in scheduling volunteers.” On the other hand, you may have no “preferred” assets or skills for the ministry personnel.

Individual Worksheet for Matching

Category	Ranking for Ministry Personnel	“Match” (Good, No, Maybe)	Examples of why you assess it this way (a few words to remind yourself later)
Administration
Community Outreach and Social Justice
Denomination and Communities
Faith Formation and Christian Education
Leadership
Pastoral Care
Self-care
Worship

Choose “Good Match” if you see common words, common phrases, or common themes in the community of faith profile and your ministry personnel profile. Choose “No Match” if you see words/phrases/themes that seem to significantly contrast or even conflict with the community of faith profile. Choose “Maybe” if there is some resonance, commonality, or dissonance or something you can’t put your finger on, but it seems intriguing and worth a second look.

Potential Interview Questions

Knowledge-based questions

- You've had a chance to review our Community of Faith Profile. Tell us what worship means to you? And what do you see as the role of the ministry personnel in worship? (adapt for any other area of ministry)
- We want to explore different ways of offering Christian education activities, especially for young families—can you describe some approaches you are familiar with?
- What strengths would you bring to your ministry here?
- What continuing education have you participated in within the last two years?
- What do you consider to be your “growing edges”? What are your plans to tend to them?
- Tell us why you are considering a change in pastoral relations right now.
- For new ministry personnel: Tell us how you believe your theological education has prepared you for the challenge of ministry with us. Where do you see strengths? What will be the difficult parts? Where will you want help from us?
- Describe how you maintain (or will maintain) some degree of sustainable vocation-life balance in this role. What spiritual practices are meaningful to you in your daily life?
- Identify two or three qualifications, credentials, or certificates that you bring and how you see these as being particularly useful in the context of our community of faith.
- We are an inclusive and welcoming community of faith. What does inclusive and welcoming mean to you, and how do you demonstrate this in your ministry?

Experiential questions

- Tell us about a mentor you've had who continues to be a model for you in terms of discipleship/stewardship/justice. Who is that person? How did you come to know them? What is it about them that speaks to you?
- Your profile says that you have spent lots of time with young people (or adults, or single moms—whatever group you want to explore). Describe a time you felt your leadership really had a positive impact. What did you do? How could you tell it was positive?
- Describe a time when you felt your leadership missed the mark. What happened? What did you do when you realized that? How did you recognize it? What would you do differently today?
- Describe an innovative piece of ministry that you led or were a part of in your current ministry. What makes it so innovative for you? How have people responded? How have you adapted it based on people's responses?
- Without divulging any confidential matters, tell us about an uncomfortable experience you've had, either in your current or previous roles, where you felt that your authority or role was being challenged. Briefly describe the situation, how you responded, how it turned out, and what you've learned. What, if anything, would you do differently now?
- What do you know today about ministry that you wish you had known when you first started? How did you gain that knowledge? How do you use it in your current ministry?
- How do you care for your own spiritual growth and nurture?

- Describe a typical workweek (recognizing that you also encounter unexpected situations). How do you organize yourself? How do you deal with competing deadlines and expectations?
- Tell us about a ministry team you've been a part of. Describe it briefly, then comment on your experiences. How do your strengths make you a solid team player? How do your weaknesses make it more challenging? And how do you use your strengths to address your weaknesses?
- Tell us about a time when you led a new initiative in your ministry. What was it? How did you involve others? How did you express your leadership? Now tell us about a time when you exercised a completely different approach to leadership. What was that style? How easy or difficult is it for you to adapt your leadership style? How might your best friend answer that last question?
- What aspect of your current ministry do you enjoy the most? Why?
- Many different theological perspectives are represented within our community of faith. Tell us about your personal theology. Then, drawing upon an experience from your past ministry, tell us about a time when you had to work with lay people or other ministry personnel whose theology differed significantly from yours.

Creativity questions

- Based on what you know today, if you could paint a picture of the ideal approach to building disciples in our community of faith, what would it look like? Who would be involved? What would be your role? How would we know it's working?
- Within our community of faith, lay people and ministry personnel work together in office responsibilities, maintenance responsibilities, the lay pastoral care team, worship team, and others. Tell us how you'd set things up so that communication happens and everyone is kept in the loop.
- In our context, you would be working as a member of a ministry team that includes paid ministry personnel and paid non-ministry staff. In your ideal vision of a highly functioning team, tell us how decisions get made, how work gets delegated or assigned, how communication is ensured, and how conflict is resolved.
- In ministry, you can almost count on the unexpected happening on a regular basis. You can't possibly be prepared for the whole gamut of human tragedies. So when you get a tragic first call telling you (for example) that one of your church members has had a young child killed in a drunk driving accident, what do you do before you call them back? Tell us how you prepare.
- Tell us what your ideal ministry position looks like today. How might it be different in five years—that is, where do you think you'll be in five years in terms of your ministry?
- How can this community of faith be most supportive to you in your role as minister? Tell us what "meaningful support" might look like.
- Describe the perfect day off for us. What will you do for fun and self-care, so that this position doesn't take over your life?

Sample Reference Check Record
